A MATINEE PERFORMANCE OF THE HUNCH-"'Folline' was an instantaneous and striking hit."—Heraid.

The Tribune says:—"One tangible impression, and that a good one, remains from 'Folline." It counsels economy and chastity." The Graphic says:—Folline is so magnificently uphoistered that proba-bly no play was ever so brilliantly set in New York. LAST NIGHTS.

The Mail says:—The play is an example of the highest school of legitimate comedy. * * Saire on the headlong spirit of the age is the leading idea of the author The Horald says:—"Folline" has been successfully produced before crowded, the same successfully produced before crowded, the same successfully produced before and seek superfluous.

The slory is concerned with the ambitions, loves, folly, sin and pentitence of a young couple. " " It is superfly placed on the stage. " " It is in four acts, and we are afraid to say how many dresses. We chronicle an unequivocal and striking success. Characters by Mr. Charles Fisher, D. H. Harkins, James Lewis, W. Davidge,

H Harkins, James Lewis, W. Davidge, Louis James, George Parkes, Owen Fawcett, Hart Conway, D. Whiting, J. G. Peakes, Miss Ada Dyas, Miss Fanny Davenport, Mrs. G. H. Gilbert, Sara Jewett, Minnie Conway, Nina Varian.

** Mr. Daly begs to announce that he has purchased the soje right for production in this country of M. Alexandre Dumas' last and most important successful contemporaneous comedy, now running in Paris to overwhelming houses, and entitled MONSLEUR ALPHONSE.

Prior to the production of this most brilliant work, however, the crowning effort of one of the master dramatist of this age, Mr. DALY will offer, after a most careful, costly and conscientious preparation, one of the choicest comedies, by the master dramatist of all ages, the perennial SHAKESPEARE; and on Saturday evening, February 21, will be parduced at this theatre the dainty, humorous and fancitul conceit, entitled LOVES LABOR LOST!

It is now nearly a quarter of a century since this superb comedy was last pisyed, and its representation on the present occasion will be marked by a distribution of rare and unusual notableness and by an elaborateness of detail that will make the performance in every way phenomenal.
